PRODUCTION OF NATIVE

Canadian Tobacco

The Province of Quebec produces annually, on a little over 12,000 acres, over 10 million pounds of Tobacco.

In certain parts of the Province, tobacco production has become a science, while in others it has remained what it was 100 years ago.

That is why there is good and bad native tobacco being sold. Some planters, however, and their number is growing rapidly, have found that it pays to produce a good tobacco. They have studied the different phases of tobacco sowing, planting, harvesting, curing and marketing; have formed Co-operative Societies, built modern drying houses for the curing of tobacco and have succeeded in producing a native tobacco equal in texture and aroma to the best imported. It is from tobacco obtained from these planters that is being manufactured and which contributes to make it the most popular Native Canadian Tobacco on the market, a delightful, perfect-burning, smooth and cool tobacco of distinctive fragrance and free from sting and bite.

SCI. '17 PLAY A WHITEWASH GAME AT "MAC."

Annual Event of Sci. '17 Again Means a Win.

RECEIVE GOOD RECEPTION.

Visitors Are Treated With Utmost Kindness by Those at Macdonald.

One of the most eventful days of the college year was that of last Saturday, when the Science '17 hockey team journeyed to Ste. Anne de Bellevue, to play the Macdonald College team. The entrance of Science '17, four years ago, was the beginning of hockey matches between this class and Macdonald College, and since that time it has become the regular custom each year to visit Macdonald at least once. This year was no exception in this respect, and it was with some joy that those who accompanied the team in former years looked forward to another of these delightful little journeys. The uninitiated did not know what the trip had meant in the past, and this was no doubt what kept many from attending.

At one o'clock a party of about fifteen or twenty had assembled at the Bonaventure Station to make the planned trip. Amusement on the way out was caused by some of the number who fell marks to the jostling that seemed to be the order of the day.

Old Kel with his warm and resplendent rays, played havoc with the ice, and it was not until the warmer part of the afternoon had passed that the game could be commenced. When the cool of the afternoon had come, the open-air rink assumed a more passable condition on which to skate, and the teams ventured forth. Even when the game was started the ice was not all that could be desired, and it was with difficulty that both teams laboured to make any pretence of team play. It was practically impossible to play combination, and both teams soon found this out, and contented themselves with individual rushes. In this respect the McGill organization were much superior to their adversaries, and it seemed that Fraser, Poe, and Kelly would have to exert themselves but little to successfully elude the Macdonald team.

The beginning of the game was slow, for both teams had not become accustomed to the condition of the ice. The first attempts at team play met with dismal failure for both sides, and it was learned that to try this would only mean stumbling and falling on the part of those who were making the rush.

Fraser, by some clever stick-handling and headwork, passed all the Macdonald team, and netted the first goal. The play now began to lag for a while, until Hebert, of the Macdonald team, began to live things up for the Science men. Had it not been for the splendid play in goal of "Sammy" Richardson, the Science '17 goal tender, it is certain that many of the wicked shots of Hebert would have piled up a total for the "Aggies." Richardson showed senior team style, and prevented anything that came his way from passing him. At the end of the second half the only attempt at team play was successful, and by it Jacques was able to mount another goal to the Science men's credit. In the second half "Bill" Fraser again outwitted his opponents, making the score four for Science '17, during which time Macdonald had not succeeded in making an impression.

Laurie, Hebert and Craik played best for the Macdonald boys, and had it not been for the latter the 4-0 score that resulted would have meant a much higher score for the men from Montreal. For Science '17 Fraser played the most outstanding part, but the work of Poe, and Richardson was highly commendable.

The manager of the Macdonald College team, and the players, took a most kindly interest in the welfare of the visitors, which all appreciated very deeply. The manner in which the McGill men are treated at Ste. Anne's has always been a well known item, and this year was not an exception to the treatment which has been meted out in the past. After the game a visit was made to various parts of the village, but the tea rooms proved to be the most popular resort to which all eventually wandered. One or two Freshmen who had come along as supporters for the men in the Senior year, took quite a kindly interest in some of the "Spirits" from their "own home town."

Some of the men left on an early train for the city, but the majority accepted the invitation which the Macdonald men had extended, and remained at the College for supper. Skating on the campus rink was indulged in by those who remained until about half-past eight, and then all retired to the reception room, where the time was passed in the playing of games and gossip in general.

The return home was not marked by the singing of songs, as was the rule in times past. It seemed to be the general lament of all that this would be the dissolution of the Science '17 team, and that the last game was now a thing of the days that had gone before.

The line-up was as follows:
Macdonald, Craik Goal Richardson
Boileau Defence Jacques
Reid Defence Fraser
Buchanan Centre Poe
Laurie Wings Kelly
Hebert Defence Beach

M-GILL MEN FIGURE IN TO-NIGHT'S GAME

Scott and Behan Will Take Part In All-Star Exhibition at the Arena.

This evening, at the Arena, will see the first of a series of two games to be played between picked teams from the City League and the Montreal League, and aside from possible Ross Cup games, will furnish the climax of amateur hockey in the City for the season. The City League men held a splendid work-out on Saturday afternoon, which allowed the men to become familiar with each other. The practice will do away with a great deal of the usual fault with all star teams, namely that of depending altogether on individual work. Manager Russell Smith expressed great satisfaction with the way the men worked, and feels that his team can travel the full distance without effort. These two teams will undoubtedly settle the long discussed question as to which league furnishes the most finished brand of hockey.

The teams will line up as follows:
City League Montreal League
Scott Goal Maltais
Spraggins Point Bechard
Mugrove Cover Lager
Behan Centre Matte
Slater R. Wings Anderson
Young L. Wings Perry
Langevin Spares Penney
Thomson Chamblard

MEMORIAL TABLET UNVEILED TO HERO

St. Matthias' Church Scene of Unveiling of Tablet to Former McGill Man.

With simple but inspiring ceremony a memorial tablet to perpetuate the memory of Sergt. John Edisforth Reddy Barrett, Arts '16, of the 5th Canadian Mounted Rifles, who made the supreme sacrifice on the 2nd or the 3rd of last June, was unveiled at the eleven o'clock service at St. Matthias' Church, Westmount, yesterday morning. A large congregation, including several in khaki, were present; and there were not a few wet eyes as the rector, Rev. Edward Bushell, M.A., told of Sergt. Barrett's career and how he was killed while in the very act of succoring a wounded comrade, and as Rev. James Roy, D.D., in a touching sermon, eulogized those who, like the Saviour, saved others, but could not save themselves.

Sergt. Barret, said the rector, was for years in close touch with the life of the parish, and was loved and respected by all who knew him. At the outbreak of the war he was a student at McGill University, taking the double honours course in Arts and Law. He had been a cadet before him, but he was a brilliant officer before everything, and in the first months of 1915 enlisted as a private in the 5th Canadian Mounted Rifles. He was a success as a soldier, and was soon promoted to sergeant. He went to the front with his battalion about a year ago, and showed the same unflinching loyalty to duty, and qualified on the field for his commission before he was killed in action while in the act of helping a fallen comrade during the severe fighting on the Ypres salient last June.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Barrett, of 425 Metcalfe Avenue, and his relatives, had the sincere sympathy of the congregation, and he was proud to dedicate the tablet to "God, and to the memory of His son the late Sergt. John Edisforth Reddy Barrett."

The Union Jack covering the tablet was then drawn aside by Major Euston and Lieut. Ewart. The rector pronounced the following prayer:

COMPETITION WILL BE KEEN IN WICKSTEED

Aggiman and Cushing Contend for Senior Silver Medal.

HELD GOOD PRACTICE.

Entry Lists Show Fairly Numerous Entries, Including Some Former Stars.

A special practice for the Wicksteed Gymnastic Competition will be held at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium this afternoon at 5 o'clock. Practisees will also be held on Tuesday and Wednesday at the same hour. There will, therefore, be only three more practices before the first part of the competition, which takes place on Thursday afternoon at 5-15.

A successful practice was held on Saturday last, when most of the work required for the competition was gone over. Several of the steps for the gymnastic dance were tried, together with the movements on the horse and parallel bars. Among those who have been out lately are J. Aggiman, Sci. '17, and Eric Cushing, Sci. '17, both of whom are contenders for the senior silver medal. The competition in this division is sure to be very keen, as both men are showing excellent form. Cushing will in all probability have the edge in the athletic events, but Aggiman's work on the apparatus is of such a calibre as to ensure an excellent grade in this division. Cushing won the bronze medal in 1915, while Aggiman was just 4-10 of a point behind, winning the same prize last year, so the competition between these two men for the silver medal will be watched with a great deal of interest. R. R. Fitzgerald, R. M. Powers, G. D. Scott, W. C. Stuart, and J. M. Vaughan have all been out and are trying for the bronze medal. Fitzgerald won Dr. Harvey's trophy for first year men last season by only one point from Bishop, and the competition in this division will undoubtedly be keen in all events.

Among those who have been trying out for the Medical Director's Trophy for those who have been in the gymnasium for only one season are H. Campbell, C. D. Goodman, J. Hannan, C. S. Hornbeck, N. McPhail, H. H. Rosen, Paul Scott and J. F. Wickenden. This division of the competition has always been productive of the keenest of competition, and this year promises to be no exception. The percentage scoring system in all events is one which enables individuals with only average ability in some events to get a score according to the degree of ability displayed. This allows of a man to score high on his specialties, and to get a fair grade in the events in which he is not quite so good.

The judges have not yet been definitely appointed, though it is almost certain that Dr. E. W. Harvey and Dr. J. J. Ross will again officiate together, with some other neutral. The three judges will mark each competitor in each event, so that as far as this phase of the competition is concerned, it is assured that it will be in safe hands.

The musician will be in attendance this afternoon at 5 o'clock sharp until 5:30 p.m., and instruction will first be given in the drill and dance movements, after which the apparatus work will receive attention.

The following is the probable entry list, and these men should make an effort to be out to-day at 5 p.m. sharp.

Final Year Competition—Silver Medal.

J. Aggiman, Sci. '17.
E. A. Cushing, Sci. '17.

Second and Third Year Competition—Bronze Medal.

RETURNING TO FRANCE.

Lieut. Howard Stewart, of Winnipeg, who was for one session with the class of Dentistry '16, and who was invalided home from France suffering from shellshock, was in the city yesterday on his return to the firing line, having recovered sufficiently to rejoin his battalion overseas. Lieut. Stewart, when seen at the Windsor Hotel by McGill Daily, stated that he hoped to go to France shortly. With the party travelling from the West, and all of whom are going overseas was Prince Eric of Denmark, who has been ranching in Alberta, and who has been recalled to his home country.

EACH SHINING HOUR.

How exceptional is the student who methodically renders strict account of every hour of each day; allotting to each of his duties and pleasures a definitely stated interval. Such a demonstration of method might perhaps elicit some degree of public curiosity or even of ridicule. And yet how such a systematic scheduling would revolutionize college life—would transform the college man. However industrious and studiously inclined the student may be, the mere absence of any system or method may blight his efforts and doom him to a bitter disappointment. It is absolutely essential to success that some systematic form of studying be adopted. However, we do not purpose to enter into a discussion of the evils of the unsystematic and unprofitable method which culminates in the inevitable "exam." This foolhardy, though all too popular practice, has already on many occasions been the subject of our disapprobation.

Our intention is rather to consider those hours which with regard to lectures and study may be looked upon as our own. Athletics and other college activities have all more or less claim upon every undergraduate. And here again, the essentiality of systematic arrangement is vital both as to the benefit which such departments of student activity will acquire and as to the benefit which they will impart.

But the average undergraduate enters into neither his studies nor student activities with a sufficient degree of ardor to entirely consume the time at his disposal. Often there are here and there vacant hours—hours free from lectures, probably unsuitable for study, and possibly inopportune for other student activity. What of these periods? Too often the college man gropes on from day to day filling up these spare hours in an impromptu manner, or (in utter disregard for the busy bee which improves each shining hour), merely "killing time." Such a waste of time in the present age particularly is by no means commendable even to the least serious thinker. Nor are such habits of idleness reconcilable with the real purpose of a college training.

We at McGill enjoy free access to an excellent library as well as several amply stocked reading rooms, and yet an hour's reading outside of that prescribed by the curriculum is a divergence which is accorded little appreciation. An hour now and then spent in reading Robert Louis Stevenson, for example, or a well-written magazine article on some current topic should not only prove a pleasurable pastime, but one of material and permanent benefit. At least, time spent thus will not later haunt us in the shape of shadows of remorse, grim reminders of the hours frittered away amidst unheeded opportunities.

REAL TAXATION IS A NECESSITY—PROF. LEACOCK (Concluded.)

But for us, here and now, and in the short time that we have, this is not possible. Outside invasion could force us to it, in a jumbled wreck, with no choice of our own. But to accomplish this at a word of command inside our present complex industrial system is not possible. It is too intricate, too complicated, to be done by command from above. To enlist every man and woman in an industrial army, to direct their work and assign their ration—in other words, to create an ideal national war machine—is a task beyond the power of a Government. Years of preparation would be needed.

Do Without Everything.

What we do must be done from below, using, as best we can, the only driving force that we know—the will of the individual. We must find a means that will begin to twist and distort our national industry out of its present shape; it begins to take on the form of national organization for war.

To do this we must exchange war property for war adversity, self-imposed and in deadly earnest. The key to the situation, as far as we can unlock it, lies in individual thrift and individual sacrifice. Let there be no more luxuries, no wasted work, no drones to keep, out of the national production.

Every man, to-day, who consumes any article or employs any service not absolutely necessary, aims a blow at his country.

Save every cent. Live plainly. Do without everything. Rise early, work hard, and content yourself with a bare living. The man who does this—if he uses the saved money properly—is doing war work for his country. He may wrap his last year's coat about him, and eat his bread and cheese and feel that he, too, is doing something to show the world the kind of stuff there is yet left in it.

But he must use his savings properly. That is the whole essence of the matter.

Let us see what this implies. If the idea of National Thrift were really to spread among us, there would be no more purchases of mere luxuries, or things that could be done without; no more motors, no theatres (save where the work is voluntary and the money for the war), no new clothes—they would become a badge of shame—no books, no pictures, no new furniture, no new carpets, no victrolas, and for our children no new toys save such as can be made by the affectionate industry of a father working overtime with bits of stick and cardboard. Such a programme would threaten to wipe out manufacturers and knock down dividends like ninepins. At first sight, a manufacturer, reading such an article as this, turns pale with indignation and contempt. Let him wait. Let us follow the money that is saved a little further, and see what happens to it.

Every cent of the money that can be gathered up by national thrift should be absorbed by national taxes and national loans. Our present taxes are, for war-time, ridiculously low as far as all people of comfortable, or even of decent means, are concerned. And they are made with one eye on the supposed benefit to industry. We need a blast of taxation—real taxation, income tax and all that should strike us like a wave of German gas. As things are, we should go down before it. Armed with the new gas helmet of national thrift we could breathe it easily enough and laugh behind our goggles.

Over above the taxes we need a succession of Government patriotic loans, not money-lenders' loans at market and super-market rates, but patriotic loans in the real sense, at a low rate of interest, let us say four per cent, and issued in bonds of twenty-five dollars, with a dollar a year as interest.

The people, one says, will not subscribe. Then, if not, let us perish; we do not deserve to win the war.

But they will subscribe. If, under the auspices of our Government, a national campaign for thrift and investment is set on foot; if we give to the ideas all the publicity that our business brains can devise, if we advertise it as commerce advertises its healing oils and fit-right boots and its Aphrodite corsets, then people will subscribe, tumultuously, roaringly, overwhelmingly.

If not—if that is the kind of nation that we are—let us call our soldiers home from the western front. They are fighting under a misunderstanding. The homes that they are saving are not worth the sacrifice.

But first let the Government—of the dominions, the provinces, the cities and the towns—itsself begin the campaign of thrift. At present vast sums of money are being wasted in so-called public works, railways in the wilderness, cement sidewalks in the streets, post offices in the towns—millions and millions that drain away our economic strength. In time of peace these are excellent. For war, unless they have a war purpose the things are worse than useless. The work of the men who labour at them is of no value, and the food and clothes that they consume must be substituted by other men.

Let us do more with new streets and new sidewalks, new town halls and new railways, till the war is done. Let us walk in our old boots on the old boards, patriots all, with dollar pieces jingling in our pockets adding up to twenty-five for the latest patriotic loan.

Let us do this, and there will pour into the hands of the Government such a cascade of money that the sound of it shall be heard all the way to Potsdam.

EIGHTEEN GRADUATES BROUGHT TO NOTICE OF SECRETARY OF STATE FOR WAR FOR THEIR SERVICES; LIEUT. H. W. COCKSHUTT IS NOW BELIEVED KILLED

Many Graduates in High Positions in the Canadian Overseas Forces Receive Recognition for Their Work—Lieut. Cockshutt, Graduate of Science '05, Has Been Missing Since the Fighting of Last June, When He Was Wounded With the 4th Canadian Mounted Rifles—Major Blaylock Awarded the Legion of Honour—Fie. Biddulph Not Killed in Action—Lieut. G. Vibert Douglas Receives Mention in Despatches—Capt. Winauer Promoted to the Rank of Major.

Among the names of Canadian officers who have been brought to the notice of the Secretary of State for valuable services in connection with the war, according to a London despatch, are several McGill graduates with the overseas forces.

Colonel Lorne Drum, Arts '92, Med. '96, of the Canadian Army Medical Corps, has rendered great service to the sanitary measures in force in connection with the troops since he went overseas with the First Division as officer in command of No. 1 Canadian Stationary Hospital. A Doctor of Public Health of 18, he joined the Canadian Army Medical Corps as a lieutenant in 1900, and in 1905 became connected with the Canadian Permanent Army Medical Corps as a captain. In 1906 he was promoted major, and when the First Division was organized took command of the hospital already mentioned. He has since been promoted colonel. Colonel Drum served in the South African War with the 10th Canadian Field Hospital, and wears the Queen's medal with two clasps for his services in that campaign. He has written a manual on the duties, scope and qualifications of the sanitary officer on active service. Colonel Drum was born in Quebec in 1873, and attended school there before coming to McGill. During his arts course at the University he took first rank honours in English Literature.

Lieut.-Col. F. G. Finley.

Lieutenant-Colonel Frederick G. Finley, Med. '85, is officer in command of No. 1 Canadian General Hospital, with which he went overseas soon after war was declared. Lieut.-Col. Finley was engaged in practice in this city when he enlisted, also being Professor of Medicine in the Faculty of Medicine. He went overseas as chief medical officer of No. 1 General, and was stationed at Netherwood, Salisbury Plain, before crossing to France. Lieut.-Colonel Finley is an M.B. of the University of London, and also a member of the Royal College of Surgeons of England.

Capt. J. R. Goodall.

Captain James R. Goodall, Med. '01, is another member of the teaching staff of the Faculty of Medicine whose services have been recognized. Originally, Capt. Goodall went overseas as Medical Officer of the 5th Canadian Mounted Rifles, in which a number of McGill men were serving in the ranks and with commissions. Capt. Goodall was associate professor of gynaecology in the Faculty of Medicine before enlistment. He was transferred from the 5th Mounted Rifles after their arrival in England.

Major L. E. W. Irving.

Major Lewis E. W. Irving, past student, is a Toronto man who was in practice in Edmonton, Alta., when he enlisted in the Canadian Field Artillery. Major Irving is a son of the late Sir Aemilius Irving, LL.D., K.C., Toronto, and attended Trinity College School, Port Hope, before he entered upon a course at McGill. He left this University before graduation, and took his degree in Medicine at Toronto in 1909. Shortly afterwards he volunteered for service with the Canadians in South Africa, and there was attached to the Rhodesian Field Force. For his services in South Africa Major Irving was decorated with the Distinguished Service Order, was mentioned in despatches, and won promotion in the field. After the war, Major Irving entered into the practice of medicine in Edmonton, but when hostilities with Germany began in 1914 abandoned this to take command of the 15th Battery, Canadian Field Artillery, in France. He has since served at the front, and has been mentioned in despatches.

Lieut. J. K. M. Green.

Lieut. J. K. M. Green was an undergraduate of the class of Science '15 when he enlisted as a lieutenant in the 5th Battery, Canadian Field Artillery, on the outbreak of war. With him at the same time there enlisted a brother, Lieut. F. D. L. (Douglas) Green, who became attached to the 4th Battery. Lieut. Douglas Green was killed in action on the Ypres salient in April, 1915, and it is said that his brother, Lieut. J. K. M. Green, was on the field telephone when word came through of his brother's death. Lieut. J. K. M. Green entered McGill in 1913 after having been graduated from the Royal Military College, Kingston. He became a lieutenant in a field battery of militia in this city while at college, and when war was declared immediately offered his services. He is now on staff duty in England, after a long period of service at the front. Lieut. Green is a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity, and was educated at Bishop's College School, Lennoxville, before he entered the Royal Military College. His father, F. W. Green, resides in the city of Mexico.

Captain G. C. Hale.

Captain G. C. Hale, Med. '09, is serving with a unit of the Canadian Army Medical Corps overseas. He was practising in London, Ont., when he enlisted. While in civil life he was Medical Officer of the 7th Regiment of Militia of London.

Major T. A. Starkey.

Major Thomas Albert Starkey, Med. '11 (ad eundem gradum), occupies the Strathcona Chair in Hygiene in the Faculty of Medicine, and organized and took overseas No. 2 Sanitary Section, Second Canadian Division, in the summer of 1915. Major Starkey comes from Cheshire, England, and

THE WEEK IN REVIEW.

Lance-Corporal R. W. Keir, of the 5th Canadian Mounted Rifles, who is now reported killed in action after having been posted as missing since last June, was a member of the class of Arts '17 and also a student of the McGill Presbyterian College.

McGill lost all hope of winning the City League championship last Monday when the McGill team was defeated by the 244th Battalion 4-2 after the Nationals had defeated Loyola by 2-1. A win over the 244th would have meant a tie for the championship with Loyola.

The Athletics' Committee of Corporation did not have a quorum at the meeting which had been called on Wednesday to discuss the Scott and Hughes cases, and consequently no action could be taken.

The last Y. M. C. A. skating party of the season was held on Wednesday evening, with a large attendance.

The championship of the Faculty of Science was won on Wednesday by the class of Science '19, who defeated '18 by a score of 9-4. The Medicine interclass hockey championship was won on Friday by Medicine '19, who defeated '20 by a score of 2-1.

Dr. D. W. McKenzie, urologist of the Royal Victoria Hospital, addressed the Medical Society on Friday evening on "The Science of Medicine and the Art of Healing."

Two teams picked from the senior hockey squad and composed of Medicine and Science students respectively, played the game at the Arena on Friday, the score being 2-2. McCulloch started for the Science team. D. M. Sutherland, '18, former intercollegiate all-around track champion, was elected president of the Science Undergraduate Society in the elections held on Friday. J. F. Wickenden was returned as vice-president; W. W. Fowler as secretary, and F. Cunningham as assistant secretary. A. G. Anderson was returned by acclamation as treasurer.

took his medical degree at London University in 1894. After taking a course at University College Hospital in London, he was house surgeon at Brompton Hospital, and later was sent to India to carry on researches in the cure and prevention of plague and cholera. From 1899 to 1901 he worked in Bombay in the Imperial Research Laboratory, and later was placed in charge of the entire situation in two large districts. On his return to England, Major Starkey pursued public health work in the laboratories of University College, London, and was bacteriologist to the London County Council. In 1902 he came to McGill as professor of hygiene. In 1906 Major Starkey was elected a fellow of the Royal Sanitary Institute, of the Montreal branch of which he has been secretary and examiner. When the Canadian Public Health Association was organized in 1910, he was chosen as its first president. Major Starkey is a Doctor of Public Health of London University, and is a member of various medical societies. The sanitary section of which he is in command, has done great work with the Canadians in France in safeguarding water supply and in other preventive measures. There are a number of other McGill men in it.

Major Colin K. Russel.

Major Colin Kerr Russel, who is mentioned in the list, enlisted originally with No. 3 Canadian General Hospital (McGill), but is now connected with the Canadian Special Hospital at Ramsgate. He was born in Montreal in 1877, the son of Hugh Russel, and took his Arts degree at McGill in 1897. Four years later he was graduated in Medicine. From 1901 to 1903, Major Russel was resident physician at the Royal Victoria Hospital, and in 1904 took up work at the National Hospital for the Paralyzed and Epileptics in London. In 1906 he returned to Canada as clinical assistant in the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, and from 1907 has been neurologist in the Royal Victoria Hospital and lecturer in neurology and clinical neurology in the Faculty of Medicine.

Major Robert Wilson.

Before he went overseas as radiographer with the Second Canadian General Hospital, Major Robert Wilson, Med. '93, was engaged in practice in the city of Montreal, and also held the post of radiographer in the Western Hospital. He was born in Constantinople, Turkey, in 1866, of Scottish parentage, but came to Canada in early life. For several years he was a member of the teaching staff of the old Faculty of Medicine of the University of Bishop's College, Lennoxville. Major Wilson is also an officer in the Fourth Field Company of Canadian Engineers, Militia. He has been engaged almost exclusively in electro-therapeutic work for a number of years. He is the author of various contributions on his work to medical periodicals.

Major J. C. Meakins.

Major Meakins was lecturer in medicine and clinical medicine in the Faculty of Medicine when he joined No. 3 Canadian General Hospital (McGill), under Colonel H. S. Birkett, when it was organized. He has since been promoted to the rank of major. Major Meakins was born in Hamilton, Ont., in 1882, and took his degree in Medicine at McGill in 1904. From 1904 to 1906 he was resident physician at the Royal Victoria Hospital, and in the following year was clinical assistant in Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore. Later in 1907 he was for a few months assistant resident physician and pathologist at the Mount Wilson Sanitarium for Sick Children.

leaving this position to become resident pathologist in the Presbyterian Hospital in New York City. In 1913 and 1914 Major Meakins was assistant in the cardiology department of University College Hospital, London, England, returning to Canada to become assistant attending physician at the Royal Victoria Hospital, lecturer in Medicine and Pathology in the Faculty of Medicine and Director of the Laboratory of Experimental Medicine.

Major C. A. Young.

Major C. A. Young, Med. '05, is now deputy assistant lecturer of Medical Services at the Canadian camp at Bramshott, England, after a period of service with No. 2 Canadian Stationary Hospital. He was born in Ottawa in 1879, the son of John C. Young, deputy clerk of the Senate, and was educated in that city before he entered McGill in the Faculty of Arts. He took one year in Arts, and then transferred to the Faculty of Medicine from which he was graduated in 1905. Major Young practised in Ottawa before he enlisted.

Major R. F. Stockwell.

Although he has been through a long period of severe fighting, Major Ralph Frederick Stockwell, Arts '08, Law '11, of the 5th Canadian Mounted Rifles, is still unscathed. Major Stockwell enlisted originally with the 5th Canadian Mounted Rifles as a captain, and won promotion overseas. He was born in Danville, Que., in 1885, the son of C. F. Stockwell, and before he enlisted was a member of the notarial firm of Place and Stockwell, Transportation Building, Montreal.

Capt. Rev. W. F. McConnell.

Captain the Rev. William F. (Bill) McConnell, Arts '14, went overseas as chaplain of the 5th Canadian Mounted Rifles, in the summer of 1915. A graduate of the Montreal Presbyterian College, he offered his services in the capacity of chaplain, and was accepted. In England, however, Capt. McConnell was transferred from the 5th Mounted Rifles and sent to the Mediterranean to join No. 4 Canadian General Hospital. While there he contracted appendicitis, and was invalided to his home in Ballinahinch, Ireland. He is now attached to a Canadian hospital in the Bramshott area, and is very popular with the wounded men under his charge. "Bill" McConnell was a leader in the Mock Parliament and other student activities while at McGill. He was born in Ballinahinch in 1884, and is the son of Hamilton McConnell of that place.

Capt. R. D. Sutherland.

Captain Ronald Douglas Sutherland, Sci. '14, is a graduate of the Royal Military College, Kingston, and enjoyed considerable reputation as an athlete before he entered McGill in 1912. He is the son of Lieut.-Colonel E. D. Sutherland, Ottawa, formerly officer in command of the 43rd Regiment of Militia, and was born in that city in 1891. When the 24th Battalion was organized in this city Capt. Sutherland offered his services, and was accepted as a lieutenant. He was promoted while the battalion was still in training in Montreal and went to France with the 24th. After several months' service there he suffered a fall from his horse, which invalided him to England, and upon recovery he was attached to the staff at one of the Canadian training centres. He is still engaged in staff work.

Capt. R. K. Robertson.

Captain Randal Kilgaly Robertson was a classmate of Capt. Sutherland at both the Royal Military College, and at McGill. Moreover, they both enlisted at the same time in the 24th Battalion. Capt. Robertson is a son of Mrs. H. E. Robertson, Hamilton, Ont., and was born at Dickinson's Landing, Ont., in 1892. He has been on active service with the 24th Battalion for some time.

Capt. A. J. Lomas.

Captain Arthur John Lomas, Med. '02, was born in Montreal in 1879. When he enlisted with a draft of the Canadian Army Medical Corps he was in practice at Millertown, Newfoundland. For some time he has been attached to the Nasrigh Military Hospital, at Cairo, Egypt, where he is doing excellent work among the British troops, according to recent reports.

Capt. H. C. Mersereau.

Captain H. C. Mersereau, Med. '05, went overseas with the Canadian Army Medical Corps soon after war was declared. His home is in Richibucto, N.B., and he was born at Bathurst, N.B., in 1882.

Major R. A. Bowie.

The name of Major R. A. Bowie, Med. '01, surgeon-in-chief at Moore Barracks Hospital, Shorncliffe, has been brought to the notice of the Secretary of State for War in recognition of his services. Major Bowie was practising in Brockville, Ont., when he went overseas in the winter of 1914-15 and joined the Canadian Army Medical Corps. He was appointed second in command of the Duchess of Cornwall's Canadian Red Cross Hospital at Cliveden, and later was promoted to his present position.

Lieut. H. W. Cockshutt.

A Brantford, Ont., despatch, says: Though a director and foreign sales manager of the Cockshutt Flow Company, and with a future before him that was decidedly bright in prospect.

Sun Life of Canada Sets New Records

RESULTS secured during the year 1916 re-affirm the position of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada as the leading life assurance organization in the Dominion. Once more it leads the field among Canadian Companies in each of the following respects:

Largest New Business. Largest Business in Force. Largest Assets.
Largest Surplus Earnings. Largest Net Surplus. Largest Income.
Largest Distribution of Life Assurance Benefits.

THE YEAR'S RESULTS

The following large and uniform increases registered during the year 1916 clearly demonstrate the strength of the Company's position and the confidence and prestige it enjoys in the public mind:

| | 1916 | 1915 | INCREASE |
|--|---------------|--------------|---------------------|
| Assets as at December 31st. | $ 82,948,996 | $74,326,423 | $8,622,573 (11.6%) |
| Cash Income | 18,499,131 | 15,972,672 | 2,526,459 (15.8%) |

| Assurances in Force | 281,434,700 | 257,404,160 | 24,030,540 (9.3%) |

Coincident with the above increases, the Company succeeded during the year in effecting a substantial and important reduction in the ratio of expense, a feature which favourably affects earnings on policyholders' account.

taken under National Thrift to convert ourselves into a war economy. The Government goes with its money to the manufacturers and interrogates them. What can you make, and you, and you? You have a plant that has made buggies and fancy carriages. These our people will not buy because now they walk. But what is it that you can make?—can you turn yourself to making trucks, wagons? You, that made boots and have lost half your trade, what about a hundred thousand boots for the army? You, that made clothes, what about doing the whole thing over in khaki? The needs of a War Government are boundless, endless. The list of its wants is as wide as the whole range of our manufacture. The adjustment is difficult. Not a doubt of it. It cannot be done in a day. But with each successive month the process would go on and on till we would find ourselves, while working apparently each for himself, altered into a nation of war-workers, every man, in his humble sense, at the front and taking his part. Meantime we at home are doing nothing, or next to it, for the war. While we go about our business as usual, men are breathing out their lives for us, somewhere in France. What shall we do?

MURRAY G. BROOKS AGAIN LECTURES

Ceylon Secretary Delivers Second Illustrated Lecture Before Y. M. C. A.

Last evening, in place of the usual Sunday night sing, Murray G. Brooks, '08, McGill Y. M. C. A. Secretary in Ceylon, gave the second of his talks upon that country. About fifty were present, including representatives from both the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A.
This time Mr. Brooks gave his audience a picture of the agricultural and industrial life of the people of Ceylon. His pictures showed the natives planting and cultivating the rice plant, and the methods which they used for irrigation. Several slides portrayed the tea industry, showing the different stages between the gathering of the leaves and the finished product ready for shipment for European consumption. The interesting manner in which the natives fashion their pottery was also shown.
Mr. Brooks told a story of some servants in Ceylon. Two women differing upon the merits of their respective cooks, decided to visit their kitchens one day. One lady found her cook washing his feet in a soup plate, while the other found her's making toast, holding the bread between his toes.
After the talk, the usual refreshments were served. Next Sunday evening Mr. Brooks will continue this series on Ceylon.

An account of the personal effects of Prof. Muensterberg was held in Cambridge, bought Prof. Muensterberg's desk which he used while a student at Heidelberg.
Prof. Muensterberg's wish that his library be given to Harvard was discovered in a letter found in his desk. Mrs. Muensterberg and her daughter, Ella, will soon leave for Germany.

nounced the dedication, and the congregation kept in prayer for the boys in the Army and Navy.
Preaching from the text, "He saved others; Himself He cannot save," Dr. Roy delivered a sermon that deeply moved the congregation. It was the sneers of the ecclesiastics at the crucified Christ. They did not realize the great truth they had uttered. Those who saved others could not indeed save themselves. It was true of Christ, it was true of the Apostles, and it was true of those who went forward under a sense of imperative duty to save the Empire. Sergt. Barrett had been killed while ministering to another, and for him, as for the others who had died that their friends and the Empire might live, would be the promise of the Saviour.

TORONTO RE-OPEN.

The University of Toronto will re-open and studies will be resumed as usual to-day. The Colleges were closed recently owing to a shortage of coal, but this has now been overcome by the arrival of a plentiful supply of fuel.

NEW LEADING SOPRANO.

The post of leading soprano in the choir of St. Andrew's Church of Scotland, Beaver Hall Hill, has been accepted by Miss Dorothy Lutton, a promising student at the McGill University Conservatorium of Music. Miss Lutton, who will sing at the McGill orchestral concert on March 8th, will commence her duties at St. Andrew's on March 11th.

SCI. '19 vs. MED. '19.

Med. '19 and Science '19 meet to-night on the Campus Rink, to decide the inter-faculty championships. This will doubtless be a hard-fought battle, as both teams have been going strong, and are out for the championship. The winners will have to play Arts '20 at a later date. It is not as yet definitely known whether Law will enter a team or not.

EIGHTEEN GRADUATES, ETC.

the call of duty was answered by Lieut. Harvey Cockshutt, Science '05, and the news that came yesterday to the family here that, after having been missing since June last, he was presumed dead, came as a distinct shock, hope having been held out that, as in other cases of a similar kind, where a soldier was seriously wounded, eventually word would be received that he was still alive. That was not to be, apparently, and in his passing Brantford loses a young citizen whose place will be hard to fill.
He was not of the adventurous type, but a steady going, hard thinking young Canadian. "I don't want to go, but I consider it my duty to go," he commented when he told members of the family that he had decided to go overseas. There was nothing more to be said. He saw his duty, and he fulfilled it, though in the fulfilling he laid down his life.
He was the only son of Mrs. J. G. Cockshutt, of this city, and at the time of his death was 33 years of age. O Educated in Brantford schools, he went to McGill University, Montreal, where he graduated with credit. Returning he joined the staff of the Cockshutt & Plover Company, being first in the local office for some time. He was then transferred to the staff of the offices (Continued on Page 4.)

"Old Stuff"

It is customary when advertising to college men to show a group of sturdy young savages battling their way to victory and then state that this or that article of food or raiment made the victory possible.

Shredded Wheat

certainly did not fill the above shells with these fine appearing young gentlemen. It might have helped—we know of numerous cases where it has—but it did not do it alone. You might or might not like Shredded Wheat. Most people do like it. The best way to find out is to try for yourself. You may be sure of this: Shredded Wheat is actually what it is represented to be—an exceptionally nutritious food made from the whole wheat berry. It does feed the body, give strength to the muscles and help to keep the stomach and digestive organs clean and in a healthy condition. That is all.

The Royal Military College of Canada.

THERE are few national institutions of more value and interest to the country than the Royal Military College of Canada. Notwithstanding this, its object and the work it is accomplishing are not sufficiently understood by the general public.

The College is a Government Institution, designed primarily for the purpose of giving instruction in all branches of military science to Cadets and Officers of the Canadian Militia. In fact, it corresponds to the military training of the United States and Great Britain.

The Commandant and military instructors are all officers on the active list of the Imperial Army, lent for the purpose, and there is in addition a complete staff of professors for the civil subjects which form such an important part of the College course. Medical attendance is also provided.

What the College is organized on a strictly military basis the cadets receive a practical and scientific training in subjects essential to a sound modern education.

The course includes a thorough grounding in Mathematics, Civil Engineering, Surveying, Physics, Chemistry, French and English.

The strict discipline maintained at the College is one of the most valuable features of the course, and in addition, the constant practice of gymnastics, drills and outdoor exercises of all kinds ensure health and excellent physical condition.

Commissions in all branches of the Imperial service and Canadian Permanent Force are offered annually.

The diploma of graduation is considered by the authorities conducting the examination for Dominion Land Surveyor to be equivalent to a university degree, and by the Regulations of the Law Society of Ontario, it obtains the same exemptions as a B.A. degree.

The length of the course is three years in three terms of six months each.

The total cost of the course, including board, uniform, instructional material, and all extras, is about $500.

The annual competitive examination for admission to the college, takes place in June of each year, and is held at the Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont.

at Winnipeg and Regina. Again he returned to Brandon, then being appointed foreign sales manager, in which position he travelled extensively, having completed a trip to Australia and around the world just shortly before the war broke out. In 1913 he was declared a director of the company.

It was not long after war broke out that he volunteered his services, going with the cavalry, which eventually became the 4th C.M.R. The regiment was turned into infantry, and on June 2, 1916, held a portion of the Canadian front line at Ypres. The Germans rushed the position that day, the attack being successful for the time. In leading his men, Lieut. Cockshutt was wounded severely. His men placed him in a shell hole, sand-bagged the position to give him as much protection as possible, and bound up his wounds to the best of their ability. That was the last heard of him up till yesterday. Since that time members of the family sought through every channel to secure definite information, following up every clue that was presented. The hospitals and prison camps in Germany were searched for him through the Red Cross and the U. S. Embassy, and on Monday the word was received, belated, through the latter channel, that he had been killed, and that details of his burial place were being forwarded by mail. First officially posted as missing, the Canadian records now relate that he is "presumed dead."

He was a single man, active in athletics, and a member of Zion Presbyterian Church. He was more than respected—he was esteemed by all with whom he came in contact. He was democratic to the last degree, and was loved by the men who served under him in the C. M. R. He was an ideal type of young manhood, and in dying for his country he lived up to his ideals.

Wins Legion of Honour.

Major Henry Woodburn Blaylock, a graduate of the Faculty of Law of the class of 1903, has been signally honored by the French War Office in recognition of his services as Assistant Commissioner for the Red Cross in France, according to information received at the University. Major Blaylock has been created a Chevalier of the Legion of Honour by the French military authorities, and was decorated on the Somme by General Nivelle, who planned the medal on his breast.

Major Blaylock was born at Paspébie, Que., on January 6, 1878, and attended the University of Bishop's College at Lennoxville, before entering

VENUS 10c PENCIL

No matter what course you're taking you need this famous pencil!

Because of the superlative quality of material and workmanship, "VENUS" is admittedly the finest pencil it is possible to make.

If you like a thick soft lead that marks so the writing half way across the room, choose the soft degrees 5B-3B-2B-1B.

For short-hand notes or easy writing 3B-2B-B (medium soft) are popular.

For sketching, general writing purposes, etc., HB-F-11-2H (medium) will prove desirable.

For drafting, a medium hard pencil gives the best results and you'll like 3H-4H-5H-6H.

For very thin, narrow lines for extremely accurate graphical charts, maps, details, etc., 7H-8H-9H are available.

Look for the distinctive water mark finish on each of the 17 black degrees and hard and medium copyings.

Your professors will confirm these statements as to the merits of VENUS pencils.

upon the study of law at McGill. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Lennoxville in 1900, and was graduated from McGill three years later. After some years he took up his residence in England, and when war broke out gave up his home to the War Office for use as a hospital. He received the appointment of assistant commissioner of the Red Cross, and has been in France in the interests of this work for some time. He is a son-in-law of Dr. James Mills, of the Dominion Railway Commission.

Like Mark Twain, Pte. Richard H. Biddulph, a graduate of the class of Science '13, serving with the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, in France, says that the report of his death has been greatly exaggerated. After the fighting before Courcellette last September there appeared in the casualty lists of those killed in action the name of a certain "Pte. R. Biddulph." Friends of the young McGill graduate inferred from this that he had been killed in action, and accounts of his career and death appeared in the Montreal papers. Pte. R. H. Biddulph heard of this, and the following note, written to a friend in close touch with the University, explains the rest of the story: "I was shocked to hear that the Montreal papers had published an erroneous report that I was, as well as our friend Ferguson (Pte. R. M. Ferguson, Arts '14), killed at the battle of Courcellette. I believe, I believe, died a heroic death, falling with so many of our best on the 15th of September. I have not been wounded, even slightly, and there was no foundation for the report that I was a casualty."

Pte. Biddulph's home is in Reading, England, and after graduation with the class of '13, he engaged in mining engineering in different parts of Canada before he joined the 5th University company when it was formed in Montreal a year ago.

According to advices received at the University, Lieut. George Vibert Douglas, Sci. '16, who left the University to take out a commission in the Northumberland Fusiliers, has been mentioned in despatches recently by Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig. Lieut. Douglas was taking a course in Chemical Engineering, and was a member of the C. O. T. C. before he went to England to enlist.

Promoted to Major.

For good work with his machine guns during the fighting in December on the French front, Capt. Henry Stanton Windeler, Sci. '14, of the Machine Gun Corps, of the British Infantry, was on January 1st gazetted to the rank of temporary major, according to word which has been received at the University. In connection with this announcement, the London Gazette, there is annexed an extract from an order by the Brigadier-General of the Brigade, to which Major Windeler was then attached:

"To Capt. H. S. Windeler, Machine Gun Company:—

"Will you please pass the attached on to the officer who was responsible to you for the machine gun squadrons during the recent operations. At the same time I congratulate you very much on the way you commanded the grouped machine guns during recent operations, and on the excellent work you did with them."

Major Windeler has had a varied experience since he joined the Second Newfoundland Regiment in the winter of 1914-15, with the rank of lieutenant. He went through the Gallipoli campaign with the Newfoundland Regiment, and when the 8th Brigade retired to Egypt after the evacuation of the Peninsula, he was appointed Brigade Machine Gun Officer with the rank of captain. He was then sent to the French front, and was soon appointed officer commanding the machine gun company of the 93rd Brigade, which position he still holds.

Major Windeler was graduated from the Royal Military College, Kingston, in 1911, before coming to McGill. At one time he held the rank of lieutenant in the 50th Stormont and Glenagarry Regiment of Militia, with headquarters at Cornwall, Ont. A brother, Capt. E. C. H. Windeler, Med. '14, went overseas as medical officer of "A" Battery, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery.

Again at the Front.

Capt. Evan B. Hugh-Jones, Sci. '14, who last year won the Military Cross for gallantry in France, is now attached to the 33rd Field Company, Royal Engineers, British Expeditionary Force, after having twice been invalided to England from the firing line. When Capt. Hugh-Jones, who was well known in athletic circles at McGill, won the Military Cross some months ago, he was severely wounded and was invalided to his home in Wales for over nine months. Upon his recovery he was appointed adjutant to the depot of Royal Engineers at Aldershot, from which place he was sent to Etaples for a month as instruction officer to the Anzac Sappers. He then went to the Somme front, where he had a bad attack of blood poisoning and bronchitis, and was again sent to England. Since that time, Capt. Hugh-Jones has returned to France, and has now rejoined his old division.

Sergeant A. S. Bruneau, Arts '13, Law '16, who recently returned from the front after service with the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, is about to resume his work in the Faculty of Law, and hopes to secure a degree at the end of the session.

Lieut. Walter Stuart Penny, Arts '13, is at present with the 79th Battery, which is now stationed in Montreal, and almost up to strength. Within a short time this battery expects to sail for England, to further complete its training. Lieut. Penny, after graduation, accepted a position with the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, and was attached to the actuarial department. During the past summer Lieut. Penny was given leave of absence by the Assurance Company, and he proceeded to Halifax, taking there an officer's course in Artillery training. After returning to his work in Montreal he was provisionally appointed with a commission to the Montreal Heavy Brigade, which has its barracks at the Craig Street Drill Hall. The 79th were lacking officers, and it was with this unit that Lieut. Penny received his lieutenantancy.

Still suffering from nervousness as a result of shellshock suffered on the French front last summer, Sapper Lyndon F. Fyles, Sci. '15, former representative on the Students' Council, is back in Canada, and is now at the Military Hospital in the Grey Nunnery. Sapper Fyles enlisted in the spring of 1915 with the Canadian Overseas Railway Construction Corps, under Lieut.-Col. Ramsey, and was chosen to act as chauffeur to the commanding officer on account of his knowledge of motor cars. Last summer he suffered shellshock and for several months was laid up in hospital with both limbs paralysed. He has now recovered to the extent of being able to make use of his limbs, and when fully recovered will probably return to the front with a commission.

Lance-Corp. Grant Writes.

"At present we are not doing much except odd jobs, and are several miles in the rear," writes Lance-Corp. H. D. Grant, Sci. '16, with the Canadian Engineers in France. "I was up quite a way on Friday, and it won't be long before we are up close and working our heads off. This should be the last year of the war, and if it is, things will certainly happen in bunches before long, and we won't go stale for lack of work, believe me. And maybe I won't appreciate lots of things when I get back which I never cared about before the war."

Lance-Corp. Grant speaks of meeting several former classmates in England, and says that it has been exceptionally cold in France, but that he would sooner have it that way than rain any time. The men have been issued leather jackets, which keep the wind out and are fine to work in.

Capt. K. L. Conover, Med. '16; A. C. Farley, Med. '14, and MacLaren, Med. '02, have left Montreal with a draft from the training depot here of the Canadian Army Medical Corps.

Nursing Sister Isabella D. Strathy, awarded the Royal Red Cross of the Second Class, is a sister of Lieut. R. Lee Strathy, Sci. '13, who was not long ago decorated with the Military Cross. Nursing Sister Strathy is engaged to Captain Alex. O. McMurtry.

London advices state that Capt. R. N. Shillington, Med. '16, is sufficiently recovered from his illness to leave Gray's Inn Hospital, where he has been a patient for some time.

Capt. C. W. Sanders, Med. '01, has left Calgary, Alta., with a draft of the Canadian Army Medical Corps for service overseas.

Lieut. Henry Hadley, Sci. '06, of the former 148th Battalion, who has been home on leave, has sailed to rejoin his battalion in England.

A London despatch says that Lieut.-Colonel Maurice Alexander, C.M.G., Law '10, has relinquished the post of assistant judge advocate-general, this being officially gazetted.

Lieut. G. Alan Johnson, Sci. '12, prominent in undergraduate affairs while a student at the University, was married on January 25 at Marylebone Presbyterian Church, London, to Mrs. R. R. Mitchell, according to advices received by friends at the University. Rev. R. C. Gillie, M.A., officiated. Lieut. Johnson, who recently won the Military Cross for gallantry conducted at the front with the Canadian Engineers, was president of the Football Club and vice-president of the Students' Union while a student in Science. His home is in Ottawa.

It is reported that Captain D. P. Gillmor, Arts '11, Law '13, who went overseas and has been training in England with the 148th Battalion, is about to return to Canada on leave, owing to rheumatism which he contracted in training camps. Capt. Gillmor was an officer of the C. O. T. C. before he enlisted.

Captain George Cuzner, Med. '00, has left Victoria, B.C., in command of a draft of the Canadian Army Medical Corps, which has been training at Willows Camp there. Capt. Cuzner has been practising at Prince George, B.C.

Lieut. Wilfred A. Landry, Sci. '10, officially reported wounded, was serving with the Canadian Field Artillery in France. His home was in Dorchester, N.B., and he enlisted as a gunner in the artillery, winning his commission in the field.

A London despatch says that the relinquishment of his commission by Lieut.-Colonel John McCombe, Med. '99, of the Canadian Army Medical Corps, which was gazetted on February 2, has been completed.

Dr. Frank J. Scully, Med. '17, former president of the McGill Medical Society, has enlisted in the Canadian Army Medical Corps, with the rank of lieutenant, and is now at his home in St. John, N.B., before going overseas.

Lieut.-Colonel H. E. Munroe, Med. '03, formerly officer in command of No. 8 Canadian Stationary Hospital, has been appointed officer in command of the Canadian Military Hospital at Hastings, according to advices from England.

London advices state that Capt. R. Bell-Irving, Sci. '14, has been gazetted commandant of the School of Aerial Gunnery, with the rank of temporary major while so employed. Major Bell-Irving belongs to a British Columbia family, which has given several of its members to the army, where all have made good. Two of his brothers hold high rank in the Flying Service, and have been decorated for their work. Major R. Bell-Irving joined the Royal Engineers as a lieutenant soon after the declaration of war.

Grads in Civil Life.

R. H. Stewart, Sci. '96, has resigned as general manager of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada, Trail, B.C., and will begin practice as a consulting mining engineer in Vancouver. S. G. Blaylock, Sci. '99, assistant general manager of the company, has it is understood, also resigned.

Dr. A. S. Gorrell, Med. '90, of Regina, Sask., has been elected to the chief officer within the gift of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masonry, that of Grand Z.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Kaufman, of this city, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ethel, to Dr. Edgar C. Levine, Med. '13, the marriage to take place on March 6.

DEPARTMENT OF COLONIZATION, MINES AND FISHERIES.

The chief minerals of the Province of Quebec are Asbestos, Chromite, Copper, Iron, Gold, Molybdenite, Phosphate, Mica, Graphite, Ornamental and Building Stone, Clays, Etc.

The Mining Law gives absolute security of Title and is very favourable to the Prospector.

MINERS' CERTIFICATES.

First of all, obtain a miner's certificate, from the Department in Quebec or from the nearest agent. The price of this certificate is $10.00, and it is valid until the first of January following. This certificate gives the right to prospect on public lands and on private lands, on which the mineral rights belong to the Crown.

The holder of this certificate may stake mining claims to the extent of 20 acres.

WORKING CONDITIONS.

During the first six months following the staking of the claim, work on it must be performed to the extent of at least twenty-five days of eight hours.

SIX MONTHS AFTER STAKING.

At the expiration of six months from the date of the staking, the prospector, to retain his rights, must take out a mining license.

MINING LICENSE.

The mining license may cover 40 to 200 acres in unsurveyed territory. The price of this license is Fifty Cents an acre per year, and a fee of $10.00 on issue. It is valid for one year, and is renewable on the same terms, or producing an affidavit that during the year work has been performed to the extent of at least twenty-five days' labor on each forty acres.

MINING CONCESSION.

Notwithstanding the above, a mining concession may be acquired at any time at the rate of $5.00 an acre for SUPERIOR METALS, and $3.00 an acre for INFERIOR MINERALS.

The attention of prospectors is specially called to the territory in the North-Western part of the Province of Quebec, north of the height of land where important mineralized belts are known to exist.

PROVINCIAL LABORATORY.

Special arrangements have been made with the POLYTECHNIC SCHOOL of LAVAL UNIVERSITY, 228 ST. DENIS STREET, MONTREAL, for the analysis of minerals at very reduced rates for the benefit of miners and prospectors in the Province of Quebec. The well equipped laboratories of this institution and its trained chemists ensure results of undoubted integrity and reliability.

The Bureau of Mines at Quebec will give all the information desired in connection with the mines and mineral resources of the Province, on application addressed to

The engagement is announced of Mr. S. W. Jacobs, Law '93, K.C., of this city, and Miss Stein, a member of an influential family in Philadelphia. The wedding will take place in April. On Saturday at the Reform Club, Mr. Jacobs, who is a designated Liberal candidate in the Federal Division of Jacques Cartier, received the congratulations of his political friends.

The marriage occurred recently in San Diego, Cal., of Dr. S. M. Nagle, Med. '04, of Ottawa, and Miss Mildred Franklin. Dr. and Mrs. Nagle are expected to return to Ottawa the middle of next month.

Wilfrid Lucas, a well-known movie actor and stage lead, received his education at the Montreal High School and McGill University. After his college course, Mr. Lucas gave his attention to athletics, at which he was quite proficient, and then went on the stage. For nine years he played in grand and light opera, and then for two years in "Quo Vadis." He is one of the first of the legitimate stage artists to appear in moving pictures, and was connected at various times with the Biograph, Universal and Fine Arts Companies. His most notable work was done in "Acquitted."

As a result of the increasing interest being taken by the United States in Canada, consequent perhaps upon the Dominion's participation in the war, Harvard University has decided to devote a special branch of its library to Canadian history and literature. Mr. Clarence M. Warner, ex-President of the Ontario Historical Society, has been appointed an officer of the University in charge of the branch.

REVIVAL OF FENCING.

As a result of the large turn-out of fencers this year, it has been suggested that the men making the team should be admitted to the membership in the Circle "C." This will be most likely granted if the sport is proven to be worth the symbol.

April 13 is the day set for the fencing tournament between California and Sanford. The members of the Varsity team will be picked after the inter-class bouts, which are to take place on the last few days of March—Daily Californian.
